DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to the RCE filed 12/03/2007.
2. Claims 1-24 are canceled.
3. Claims 25-40 are newly added.
4. Claims 25-40 are pending in this office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

5. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

6. Claims 25-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

7. Claim 25 includes the following limitations:

- a. "means adapted for initiating a counter to an opening value in accordance with a session identifier of an initial instance associated with the interactive session;"
- b. "means adapted for testing a current counter value against the opening value;"
- c. "the hidden browser window includes termination means adapted for generating a termination signal to the at least one session tracking session application so as to commence a termination of the associated interactive session upon a determination of an unload event by the session tracking application when a current counter value equals the opening value"

(emphasis added)

8. In regards to limitation 'a', page 5 of the specification states that when a new session is initiated "...the counter is set to one to show that one browser is associated with the session". The specification does not describe setting the counter to any other value when initiating a new session. This is important when considering the context of the claimed subject matter as a whole. Particularly, limitation 'b' and 'c' indicates a testing of the current value against the opening value with a particular functionality based on whether the current counter value equals the opening value. As an example, this suggests that the opening value could be set to 3 and that the session would be terminated if the current counter value equals 3.

9. However, the specification does not describe such a test or any similar scenario. The only test described in the specification is determining whether another browser window is using the same session (last paragraph of page 5 to first paragraph page 6). Even this description only generally implies the use of the counter values in determining if another browser is being used for the same session. There is no explicit indication that there is a comparison of a current counter value to some set opening value.

10. Claims 26-32 depend on claim 25 and therefore include the same limitations. Claim 33 includes similar limitations. Claims 34-40 depend on claim 33 and therefore include the similar limitations. For these reasons, claims 25-40 fail to comply with the written description requirement.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

11. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

12. Claims 25-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

13. Claim 25 includes the limitation

"the hidden browser window includes termination means adapted for generating a termination signal to the at least one session tracking session application so as to commence a termination of the associated interactive session upon a determination of an unload event by the session tracking application when a current counter value equals the opening value" (emphasis added).

Claim 33 includes a similar limitation.

14. This limitation seems to indicate that the determination of any unload event may cause the termination of the session. However, applicant's specification indicates that certain unload events will not cause the session to termination, such as a browser refresh (See page 5, 3rd paragraph). This is further reflected in the dependent claims 29 and 37. As such, it is unclear as to what applicant is intending to include in the scope of claimed subject matter, and it seems claims 29 and 37 are in conflict with claims 25 and 33 respectively.

15. Note claims 26-32 depend on claims 25, and claims 34-40 depend on claim 33.

For these reasons, claims 25-40 are indefinite.
